Friends, Lauren Papworth and Gabe Harmon enjoy a beautiful summer day on SMSC’s campus.
Hello, my fellow readers!

By Coleen Baucom

I got to be a model in St. Madeleine’s annual fashion show, Haute with Heart: Diamonds Are a Girls’ Best Friend! Melissa Heinerick and I stepped onto the runway, and were introduced to the crowd. Everyone was so excited, they were screaming my name. I was wearing a beautiful dark blue dress that looked like a 1940’s dress - like a dress Marilyn Monroe might have worn. I picked it out myself at Macy’s. I got to have my hair done with a Monroe curl in the front. I did a little dance on the runway. When I was young it was my goal to be a model. So it was a dream come true! Naturally, I hope to be a model again next year!
The movie You've Got Mail was on the big screen in 1998. A rom-com that starred Meg Ryan, Tom Hanks, and Joan Stapleton. It starts with a woman played by Meg Ryan, who owns a cute little bookshop in the heart of New York City. The bookshop is called the Second Shop on the Right. The characters played by Meg Ryan and Tom Hanks started to get to know each other through emails on their computers. When they meet at a party, a relationship begins! It just goes to show you, when you email someone, you get to know that person better.

Congratulations to Sophie's artists Francisco Rojas, Tiffany Simpson, and Anthony Wardlow whose artwork were juried into Outside Forces at Art Enables. Located in Washington DC, Art Enables welcomes independent artists and those from sister studios around the country for their 16th annual exhibition of work by self-taught artists!
Thank you for being the reason we smile!
